Notice for prospective residents

Before you decide whether to live in a retirement village, you should:

- Seek independent legal advice about the retirement village contract there are different types of contracts and they can be complex
- consider ingoing costs, ongoing fees and charges (which can increase) and how much it will cost you when you leave the village permanently
- Consider any impacts to any pensions, rate subsidies and rebates you currently receive
- Consider whether retirement village living provides the lifestyle that is right for you. Moving into a retirement village is very different to moving into a new house. It involves buying into a village with communal facilities where usually some of the costs of this lifestyle are deferred until you leave the village. These deferred costs when you leave your unit may be significant.

Important information for the prospective resident

- The Village Comparison Document gives general information about the retirement village accommodation, facilities and services, including the general costs of moving into, living in and leaving the retirement village. This makes it easier for you to compare retirement villages.
- The Retirement Villages Act 1999 requires a retirement village scheme operator to: .
 - o provide a copy of the Village Comparison Document to a prospective resident of the retirement village within seven days of receiving a request
 - o include a copy of the Village Comparison Document with any promotional material given to a person, other than through a general distribution (e.g. mail-out)
 - o publish the Village Comparison Document on the village's website so that the document, or a link to it appears prominently on each page of the website that contains, or has a link to, marketing material for the village
- You can access a copy of this Village Comparison Document on the village website at • Retirewithus.com.au
- All amounts in this document are GST-inclusive, unless stated otherwise where that is

- Find out the financial commitments involved in particular, you should understand and
- Consider what questions to ask the village manager before signing a contract

More information

- If you decide to move into a retirement village, the operator will provide you with a Prospective Costs Document for your selected unit, a residence contract and other legal documents.
- By law, you must have a copy of the Village Comparison Document, the Prospective Costs Document, the village by-laws, your residence contract and all attachments to your residence contract for at least 21 days before you and the operator enter into the residence contract. This is to give you time to read these documents carefully and seek professional advice about your legal and financial interests. You have the right to waive the 21-day period if you get legal advice from a Queensland lawyer about your contract.

The information in this Village Comparison Document is correct as at 14 January 2020 and applies to prospective residents. That information is subject to change. The village operator reserves the right to vary any of the information in this Village Comparison Document at any time.

Some of the information in this document may not apply to existing residence contracts.

	 alter the size of the village, by incorporating additional land into the village or disposing of land forming part of the village; further develop or redevelop all or part of the village in the future.
	The village operator also owns land adjoining the retirement village and situated on Dragon Street. The village operator may seek approval from the Southern Downs Regional Council to construct additional units or facilities on that land or on land the village operator may purchase in Flitcroft Street or otherwise adjacent to or in the vicinity of the village. If this occurs, the residents of those additional units will be given access to the retirement village facilities.

	The village operator may construct any number of independent living units or serviced apartments the village operator sees fit on the retirement village land or any land that is added to the retirement village scheme land.
	If and when the village operator wishes to incorporate any adjoining or additional land into the retirement village scheme land, residents agree not to object to, or oppose, its inclusion.
	The village operator does not guarantee that any adjoining or other land will be included in the retirement village scheme land in the future or that independent living units, serviced apartments or additional facilities will be constructed on the existing retirement village land or any adjoining or additional land. This will be determined by the village operator at its discretion based on the operator's assessment of market demand and general market conditions.
	Is there an approved redevelopment plan for the village under the Retirement Villages Act ?

pay for while residing in the unit?	If your unit includes a garden then you must keep the garden in good condition. You must not grow, or allow anyone to grow, inside or outside your Unit or in the Village, any plant with potential to grow in excess of two metres unless you obtain the village operator's written approval. You must keep your unit clean. You must take reasonable steps to keep your unit free of pests (other than termites), including by having pest control treatments (other than termite treatments) carried out in your unit at your expense annually and whenever else the village operator reasonably requires you to do so. If you make any alterations or additions to the unit with the village operator's consent, or if any alterations or additions made by a previous resident of the unit remain in, on or attached to the unit when you take occupation, you are responsible for keeping them clean, well maintained and in good repair, and replacing them if they are worn out or cannot reasonably be repaired. You are also responsible for repairing or replacing things in, on or attached to the unit and in the village that you damage or destroy, or are subject to accelerated wear because of your actions.
10.4 Does the operator offer a maintenance service or help residents arrange repairs and maintenance for their unit? If yes: provide details, including any charges for this service.	☐ Yes ⊠ No Note: Subject to the exceptions referred to in Item 10.3, the village operator is generally responsible for the maintenance, repair and replacement of the unit and items in, on or attached to the unit.
	n you leave the village ay an exit fee to the operator when they leave their unit or when the right old. This is also referred to as a 'deferred management fee' (DMF).
11.1 Do residents pay an exit fee when they permanently leave their unit?	 Yes – all residents pay an exit fee calculated using the same formula Yes – all new residents pay an exit fee but the way this is worked out may vary depending on each resident's residence contract No exit fee Other
If yes: list all exit fee options that may apply to new contracts	Exit fees are calculated as a percentage (set out in the applicable exit fee table below) of your Original Standard Ingoing Contribution, according to the period from (and including) the commencement date of your residence contract (to and including) your Exit Date. The applicable exit fee table depends on the contract option selected by you before you entered into your residence contract (see Item 9.2).

In this document, "Exit Date" means the later of: (a) the date your residence contract expires or is terminated; and (b) the date that you vacate the unit, or any other date that the Retirement Villages Act 1999 (Old) specifies as the date as at which the exit fee for a residence contract is to be, or may be, calculated. 	Less any costs of, or associated with, reinstatement work for which you are liable
	Less any amounts you owe to the village operator under any other agreements the village operator has with you about the provision of services or goods to you in the village
	Less the costs and expenses the village operator incurs with respect to the termination of your residence contract including, without limitation, your share of the village operator's costs of finding a new resident for your unit and your share of any valuation costs
	Less any other amounts you must pay to the village operator under your residence contract, including any personal services charges owing

14.2 When is the exit entitlement payable?	 By law, the operator must pay the exit entitlement to a former resident on or before the earliest of the following days: the day stated in the residence contract which may range from 28 days (where the resident transfers to a Churches of Christ Care Aged Care Facility and other criteria are satisfied) to 12 months after the termination of the residence contract. 14 days after the settlement of the sale of the right to reside in the unit to the next resident or the operator 18 months after the termination date of the resident's right to reside under the residence contract, even if the unit has not been resold, unless the operator has been granted an extension for payment by the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal (QCAT). In addition, an operator is entitled to see probate or letters of administration before paying the exit entitlement of a former resident who has died.
14.3 What is the turnover of units for sale in the village?	11 accommodation units were vacant as at the end of the last financial year
	5 accommodation units were resold during the last financial year
	14.5 months was the average length of time to sell a unit over the last three financial years.
